

I regularly use the XM services particularly in the morning when going to work. Having to tune to regular broadcasting just to get this information doesn't make sense. XM is the technology of today and the future. Why not help it grow rather than put limits on it.

Jim Jones